

Financial Benefits of

For High School Seniors or students living with someone who pays for their housing and food.

Start at Shasta College...Complete Your Bachelor's Without Going Broke

- Everyone knows you can decrease college costs by starting at a community college
- What if you could earn your Bachelor's Degree without going into debt?
- It's possible! By going BOLD* at Shasta College, living at home, and completing your Bachelor's through a university offering an online or a local in-person option or students living with someone who pays for their housing and food

*BOLD: Bachelor's through Online and Local Degrees

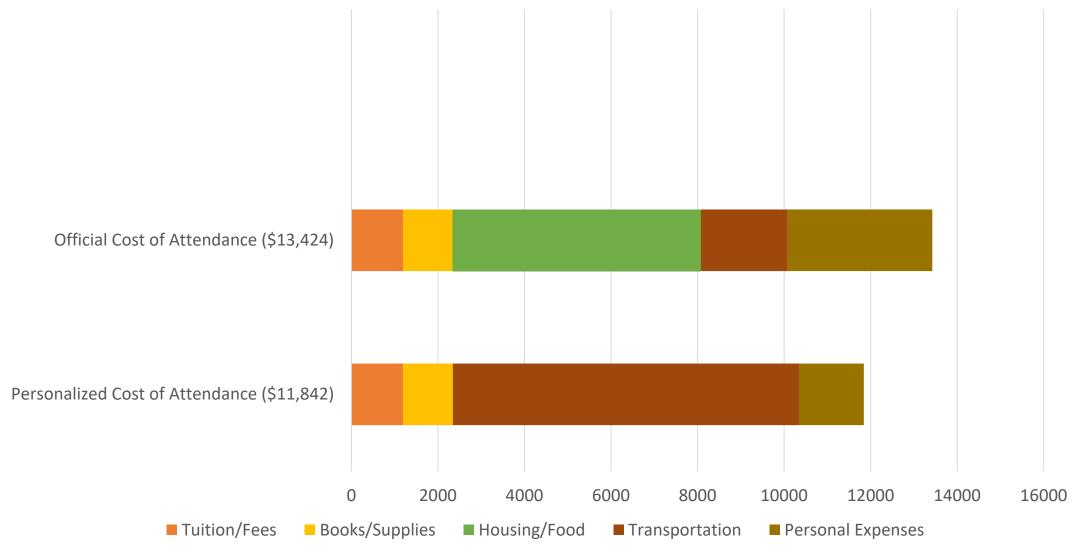

Disclaimer...

- This financial example assumes the following:
 - You have at least a 2.0 GPA in high school, and you apply for financial aid by March 2nd each year
 - You have an Expected Family Contribution of zero from your financial aid application
 - You live at home with your parents (or with someone else who pays for your housing and food) while you are at Shasta College and while you complete your Bachelor's
 - You do your best to utilize your financial aid responsibly by determining what YOUR personalized Cost of Attendance is (as compared to Shasta College's official Cost of Attendance)
 - Dollar amounts are built on 2022-23 Cost of Attendance and Financial Aid Awards; costs and award amounts will likely change for subsequent years

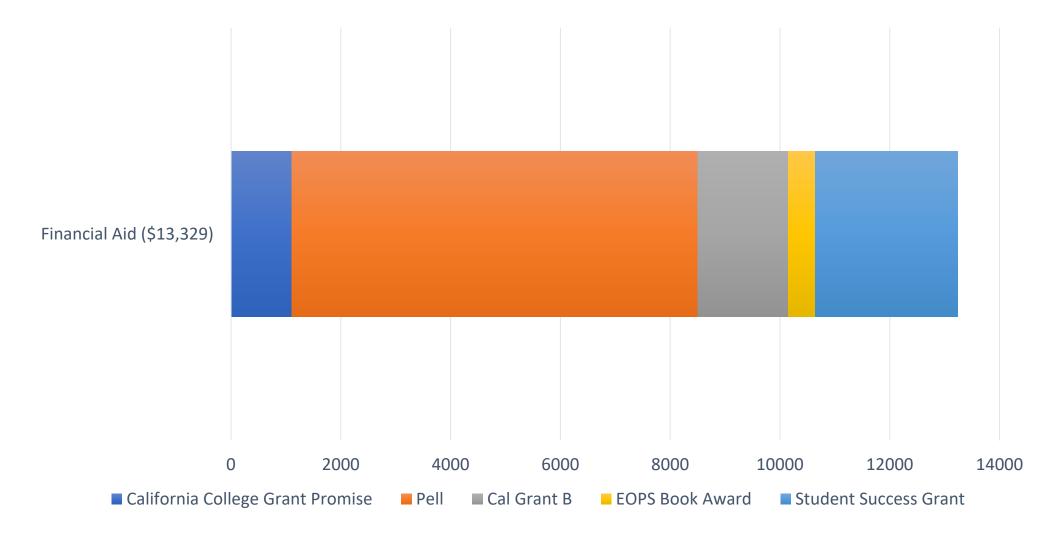

Example 1: Costs for a full-time (12+ units) Student living at home, year 1 at Shasta College

Example 1: Financial Aid for a Student with EFC of 0, living at home, at Shasta College and is a full-time student (12 units).

Wait, it looks like I'm getting more financial aid than I would be spending?

Can that be right?

Sort of...

- You can receive financial aid funds (including your EFC) up to the total OFFICIAL Cost of Attendance
- If you reduce your PERSONALIZED Cost of Attendance to less than the OFFICIAL COA (you don't spend money on rent, for example), any financial aid you receive that you don't spend on college costs...can be SAVED for the upcoming years.

For year one at Shasta College:

- Personalized Cost of Attendance: $11,842
- Total Financial Aid Award: $13,329
- Unused Financial Aid Funds to save for a rainy day: $1,487

Example 1: Costs for a full-time (12+ units) Student living at home, year 2 at Shasta College

For year two at Shasta College:

- Personalized Cost of Attendance: $5,842
- Total Financial Aid Award: $13,329
- Unused Financial Aid Funds to save for a rainy day: $7,487
- Plus, the $1,487 you saved from year 1
- = $8,974 in savings

Example 1: Costs for a Student living at home, year 3 "at" CSU Chico (in Redding)

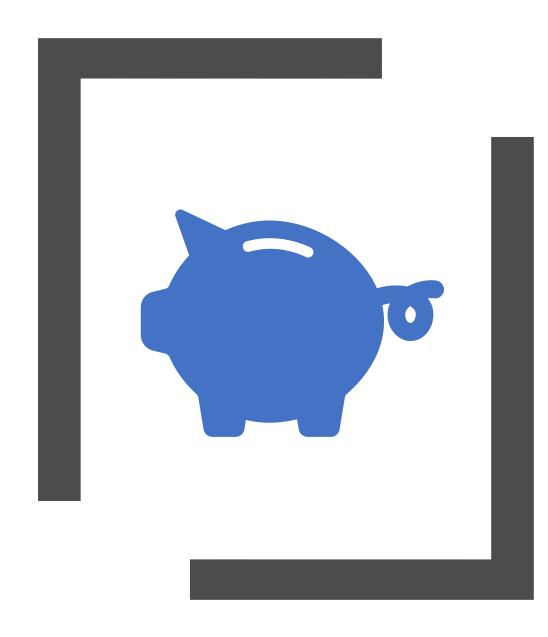

Example 1: Financial Aid for a Student with EFC of 0, living at home, at CSU Chico

For year three "at" CSU Chico:

- Personalized Cost of Attendance: $12,082
- Total Financial Aid Award: $14,785
- Unused Financial Aid Funds to save for a rainy day: $2,703
 - Plus, the $8,974 you saved from year 1+2= $11,677 in savings

Year 3 and 4 will be similar for aid and costs.

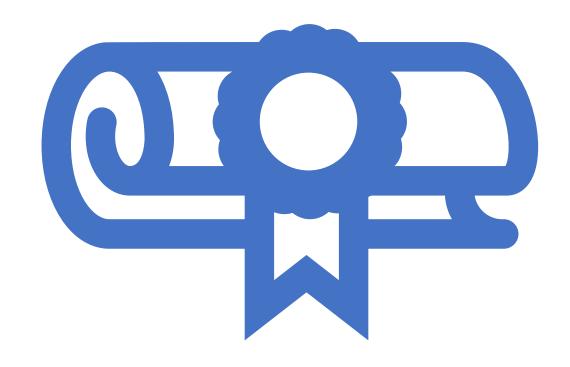

For year four "at" CSU Chico:

- Personalized Cost of Attendance: $12,082
- Total Financial Aid Award: $14,785
- Unused Financial Aid Funds to save for a rainy day: $2,703
 - Plus, the $11,677 you saved from year 1+2+3= $14,380 in savings

Did you just show me how I could finish my Bachelor's Degree with money in the bank?

YES!
