RISING SCHOLARS

Juvenile Justice Program

Shasta College

Rising Scholars is helping juvenile justice-impacted students to create a new future for themselves through education.

“Rising Scholars looks through windshields and not rear-view mirrors” —Jason F.

The Shasta-Tehama-Trinity Joint Community College District (“Shasta College”) does not discriminate against any person on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religious preference, age, disability (physical and mental), pregnancy (including pregnancy, childbirth, and medical conditions related to pregnancy or childbirth), gender identity, sexual orientation, genetics, military or veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law in admission and access to, or treatment in employment, educational programs, or activities at any of its campuses. Shasta College also prohibits harassment on any of these bases, including sexual harassment, as well as sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking.

What is ↑ RISING SCHOLARS

The Shasta College Rising Scholars Juvenile Justice program aims to expand and increase access for justice-impacted youth to community college courses that lead to degrees or certificates that result in enhanced workforce skills or transfer to a four-year institution. Our program provides college courses offered both within juvenile facilities, on one of Shasta College's four campuses, and online to establish a direct pathway to college for juvenile justice-impacted youth. The Rising Scholars Juvenile Justice program is a partnership between the County Office of Education and Juvenile Probation Offices in each of our three counties.

Our mission is to support students both in custody and during the reentry process after release. The Rising Scholars program provides access to student support programs with academic, administrative, basic needs, and limited financial aid support for justice-impacted juvenile students who are part of the juvenile justice system.

"The staff and services involved with step up are super amazing! I can't say enough good about the program! They all kept me going and offered more encouragement than my own family! I felt like giving up a few times this semester when things were going rough...but I always got something positive from them when I needed it the most."

—Scott M., Rising Scholars Student
